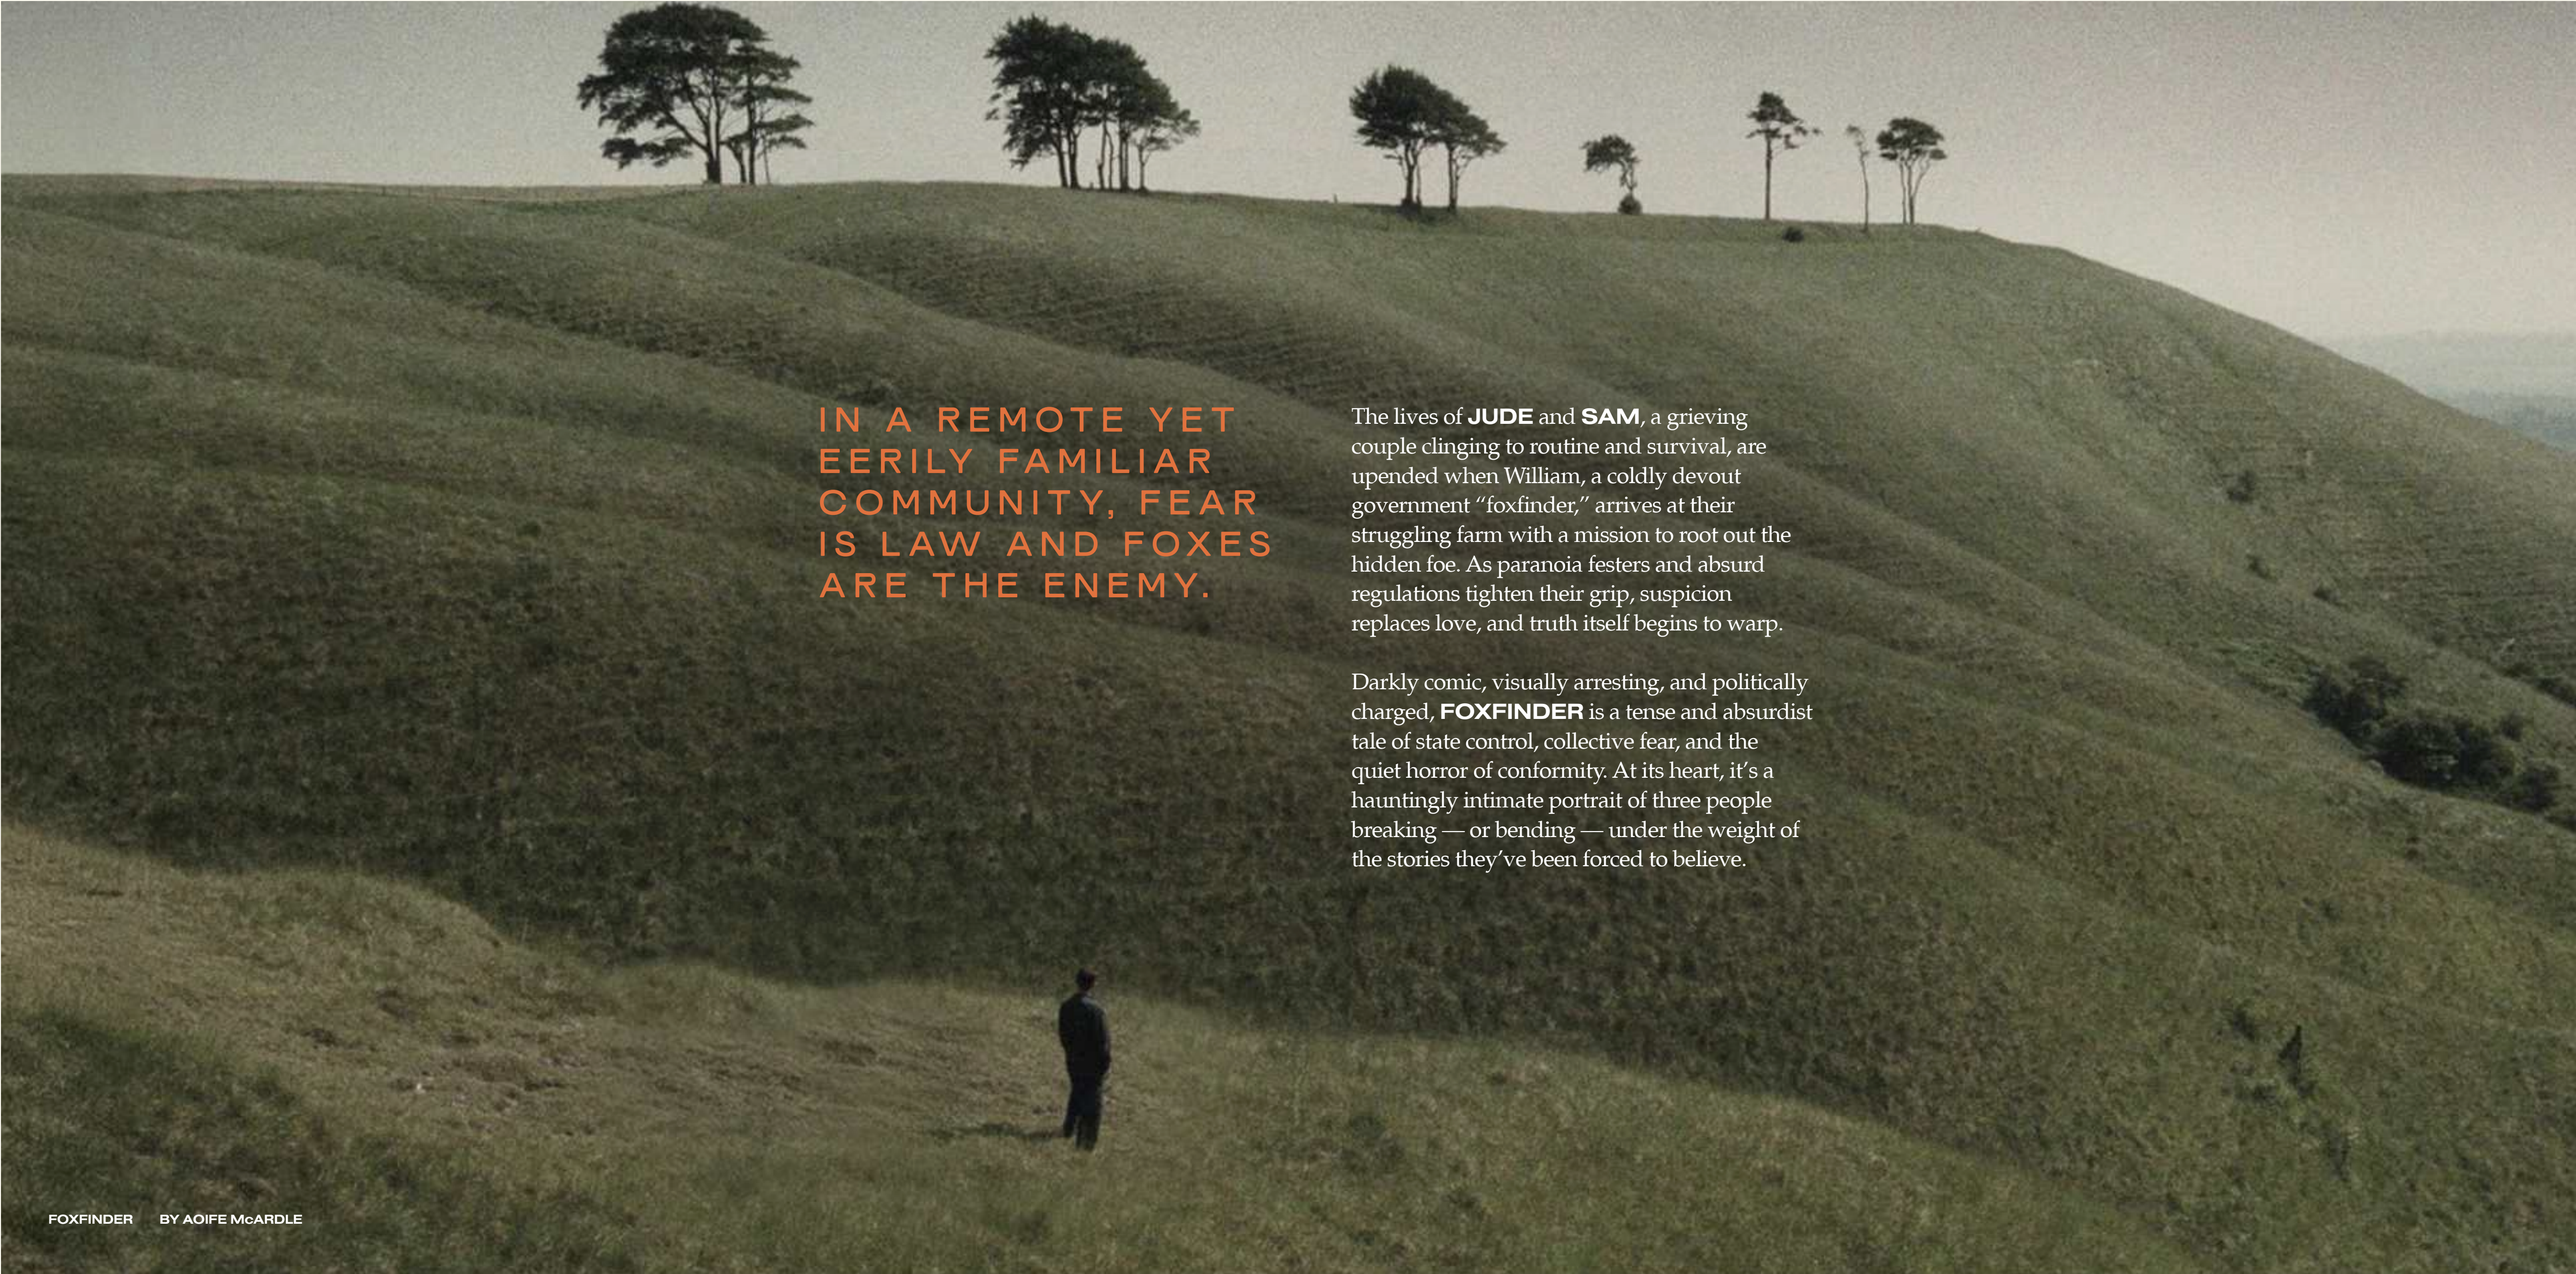
FOXFINDER
A FILM BY
AOIFE McARDLE



IN A REMOTE YET EERILY FAMILIAR COMMUNITY, FEAR IS LAW AND FOXES ARE THE ENEMY.

The lives of JUDE and SAM, a grieving couple clinging to routine and survival, are upended when William, a coldly devout government "foxfinder," arrives at their struggling farm with a mission to root out the hidden foe. As paranoia festers and absurd regulations tighten their grip, suspicion replaces love, and truth itself begins to warp.

Darkly comic, visually arresting, and politically charged, FOXFINDER is a tense and absurdist tale of state control, collective fear, and the quiet horror of conformity. At its heart, it's a hauntingly intimate portrait of three people breaking — or bending — under the weight of the stories they've been forced to believe.
